The Defenestration of Vienna is upon us!

Sustainably global, fundamentally crazy and always a little too loud – from June 21st to June 26th, the zeitimpuls short film festival is taking a figurative leap out of the window.

The nearly 140 short movies from over 60 countries will amaze you, make you laugh, move you to tears and will offer more than just an answer or maybe even a whole new definition of “normal”.

There will be no knights in shining armors but Austrian premieres, excellent films and daily sustainable Q&Rs will shine just as bright. We will break several limits and maybe even a few lances with the Cinematic art and crazy perspectives that you will not only be able to view online at ARTHOUSE or offline at schikaneder but also in the “Open Air”.

But beware several outdated ideas and clichés will tumble out of the halls and windows of Vienna.

No Arms, No Armor – film heroism retold

True heroines face off against bad hair days, they do not flinch in the face of evil wolves and they dance in the rain without worry. And what about the shining knights? They “pickle their dreams”

Continental shift - when limits change

When clichés fall out of the windows of Shanghai, a glance out of the windows at the Ivory Coast reverses time and all genders dance across continents to present their normalities. The borders and norms are threatened to relive history and undergo a defenestration however this time in Vienna.

FAQ 2.0 – Fundamental Asked Question

You seek quick answers? Don't be hasty, you could overlook a question! Questions over questions – Who even likes coriander? Would you like another cup of coffee? Is this cab available? – All these are frequently asked questions, yet rarely so fundamental!

An Experiment – No Answer

Rules are meant to be broken – when a suitcase falls from the sky, a cremeschnitte offers a solution to all problems and circles transform into squares: this is when cinematic experiments throw old views out of the window.
